SEEK RICH GIRL AND WAITER

SERVANT AGED 50 CHARGED WITH ABDUCTING MISS OF 16.

Both Disappeared From the Bellevue-Same Hour-Girt's Grandfather Gets Letters From Her Hinting at Suicide.

Miss Roberta E. de Japon, a sixteenrear-old granddaughter and prospective ole heir of Robert Buist, the wealthy seed merchant of Philadelphia, with whom she made her home at the Bellevue-Stratford in that city, disappeared last Wednesday morning.

Three hours later the father of the girl lodged a charge of abduction against Frederick Cohen, a waiter at the Bellevue-Stratford, who disappeared at the same

Cohen, who is almost fifty years old. left a wife destitute at his home, 1643 Christian street, Philadelphia. He had gained the entire confidence of Mr. Buist during the months that he had been employed to serve meals in the apartments occupied by the family on the seventh floor of the Bellevue-Stratford.

Mrs. Ferdinand de Janon, the girl's nother, died at the University Hospital in Philadelphia a month ago. Until then she had made her home at the Bellevue with her father and daughter. She was an invalid for almost a year.

The father and grandfather of Miss de Janon are still unwilling to believe that she eloped with the waiter, though the police of every Eastern city have been furnished with descriptions of the two and instructed that they left this city ogether some time on Wednesday morn-

A belief that the young girl has com mitted suicide is based upon two letters received by her father after her disappearance. One was found pushed under the door of a room in the suite at the Bellevue when an alarm sent out the girl's governess had brought him to the hotel and another was awaiting him at his New York office when he reache there with detectives from Philadelphia who had been assigned to the case.

Both letters were couched in affec-ionate terms, and in them the girl said that she could not live without her mother and that she would probably be dead by the time her letters reached her father she wrote that she intended to commit suicide "either in Fairmount Park or in the Schulkill River," both of which are in

Mrs. Julia Cohen, the wife of the missing vaiter, was the first to give the Philadelphia police information on which they built up the theory of an elopement.

She accompanied the father of Miss de

Janon and the detectives to this city yesterday in an effort to guide them to the old haunts of her husband, but late last night no trace of either Miss de Janon or Cohen had been found.

Upon the death of Miss de Janon's nother a month ago and when as a conequence her father came to New York take up his residence; her grandfather, Mr. Buist, who is wealthy and who was devoted to the girl, had papers drawn for the formal adoption of the girl as his ward and heir. One of the last things Miss de Janon did before her disappear-

The day before leaving the Bellevue she had visited Glenwood Cemetery in the height of the storm to put flowers on her mother's grave. Her relatives learned after she had disappeared that Cohen had accompanied her on this trip. Miss de Janon is of slight figure, with dark complexion and dark eyes. She was to have entered Miss Shipley's preparatory school at Bryn Mawr on January . All arrangements for her going had peen made and her clothing and ongings had been packed, Cohen is short and slight and partly bald. Before his engagement at the Bellevue he was employed in the dinner room at the Walton in Philadelphia. He is said to have two aliases and has been known variously as Ferdinand Cook and Fer-dinand de La Chapelle. He went to the Bellevue on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock and drew $28 that was due him and told the head waiter that he had quit and was about to leave the city.

Miss de Janon was well supplied with money. She disappeared an hour later. The police say they took a train for New

Miss de Janon left her anartmente after telling her governess and her father that she was going out for a walk and had not returned late in the afternoon, her father notified the police, and an investigation that followed turned up the information on which the charge of bduction was made against the waiter.

Employees of the hotel said they had witnessed demonstrations of between the waiter and the girl. He is said to have told her that he was heir o a wealthy Spaniard, that his wasn't Cohen but La Chapelle and that ne owned extensive lands in Florida. Mrs. Cohen when sought out by police on Wednesday evening said that husband had often spoken of the girl and had shown her a gold matchbox fectionately inscribed, which he said she had given him as a Christmas present.

she had given him as a Christmas present.

Mrs. Cohe n told the police that her husband had asked how she would regard a proposition for a divorce for a money consideration.

The New York police received notification of Miss de Janon's disappearance on Wednesday from Robert Buist. Mr. Buist thought that possibly the girl might be found at the bome of a Mrs. Kennedy at 458 West 145th street. Inquiry of Mrs. Kennedy brought the reply that she had not seen Miss de Janon in a year.

SHOPS MOVE UP 5TH AVENUE. anderbilt and Sloane Walve Restrictions on the Langham Site.

W. D. Sloane, William K. Vanderbilt Sr., and Mrs. E. H. Harriman signed an agreement yesterday waiving the restrictions on the site of the old Langham Hotel and authorizing the brokerage firm of Pease & Elliman to sell the land

The Langham Hotel stood on the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Fiftycond street, where it occupied a plot 115x130 feet in size. In 1903 the Shannon estate sold the hotel to Flake & Dowling who subsequently resold it to William K Vanderbilt and W. D. Sloane for $1,350,000, following the announcement that an apartment house was to be erected there. Sloane and Vanderbilt bought the hotel as a buffer against the inroads of business Diagonally across Fifth avenue stood Sloane residence: directly across the avenue were the two Vanderbilt mansions. Across Fifty-second street was the Morton F. Plant house.

The hotel site was placed under a re striction against business occupancy and almost immediately turned over to other owners. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., bought the corner, a fifty foot plot and sold it shortly afterward to Com-modore Frederick G. Bourne, who in turn sold it to the late James Henry Smith. Then the late Edward H. Harriman took over the plot. At his death the property reverted to his widow. The 65 foot plot adjoining the corner was held intact by Sloane and Vanderbilt The agreement signed yesterday proas a single plot.

NO ALIMONY TO QUESTING WIFE. Ramsperger Satisfies the Court That He Paid in Advance.

Mrs. Amelia Pernod Ramsperger, wife of Herman G. Ramsperger, head of the importing firm of H. G. Ramsperger & Co. at 114 Broad street, who was held when she came over here last October has brought suit for a separation, and asked Supreme Court Justice Dowling yesterday to grant her $75 a week alimony pending the suit. The Court denied th application, on the statements in Mr.

Ramsperger's answer. Ramsperger said that his wife inherited $27,300 from her mother and $37,500 from her father, and that under the Swiss law he had power to control this money He released all his claim to the estate on the agreement that his wife would not look to him for support in the future. Mrs. Ramsperger, he said, got away from her daughter's villa on Iake Geneva by stealth and the daughter cabled to parts of the world for trace of her learned nothing until it developed but that she had been detained on Ellis Island She was finally released when she proved that she was the wife of an American

Justice Dowling decided that the con tract under which Ramsperger gave up his laim to his wife's estate was valid and is a bar to the granting of alimony.

ADAMS IN DANGER: EXPLOSION THREE MEN HURT.

Firemen Fight Hard to Save Building Adjoining the Old Plant Near the Grand Central Yards-Engine 65 Man Injured-Much Freight Goes.

The American Express Company's ffices at Madison avenue and Forty seventh street, backing up on the New York Central yards, caught fire a little after midnight last night.

Within half an hour the greater part of the offices had been destroyed and the firemen were fighting to keep the flames from spreading to the office of the Adams Express Company, which abuts the American offices on the north, and the storage house of the American company on the south.

A few minutes after the fire started there was an explosion and flames shot out in all directions. At that time 150 employees of the company were in the to hush up all information of building. Two of the men, Peter Schwaller of 452 West Fortieth street and Michael McManus of 334 East Thirtyeighth street, both porters, were badly burned. They were taken to the Flower Hospital

The explosion seemed to spread the flames throughout the buildings, which are largely of frame construction, erected around an old church. The sheds in the rear from which cars are loaded went first. No cars were standing on the Central tracks and the flames were kept from doing damage in the yards. Deputy Chief Langford after sizing up the blaze sent in the third alarm, which brought Chief Croker. The blaze was a hot one. The firemen had hardly got to worl when a wisp of flame shot out and caught Fireman Philbin of Engine Company 65 He was severely burned and was taken to the hospital.

The firemen had an hour and a half of the hardest kind of work to prevent the fire from spreading, Employee of the express company, working with could and moved it down the street but practically everything that was in the sheds of the American company was destroyed.

There were three or four explosio before the fire was got under control at 1:40 o'clock. These, the fireme guessed, were furnished by barrels of oil among the freight.

The building on the south, also occ by the American Express Company, in which $5,000 worth of furs were stored was saved. Of the rest of the American flices and sheds nothing was left but the walls of the old church, which had been used for an office building.

A few minutes before the fire started a ong train bar been made up on the New York Central tr e's and filed the sieds of the American Express Company. was pulled out of harm's way before the fire began.

Some one who was in the building a the time the fire started, said that the two porters who were burned had been attempting to put out the fire and had been injured by the explosion of hand extinguishers.

Catholic Church in Florence Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. ROME, Dec. 30.-An important di covery was made by accident to-day in the Church of Santa Maria di Maggiore at Florence, in the side chapel dedicated to the Virgin of Mount Carmel. Monks attempted to enlarge two small niches in the wall where holy oil was kept. While removing the plaster they discovered concealed underneath two marble taber acles representing the figure of Christ surrounded by angels and flanked by two columns supporting a cornice bearing graceful floral decoration.

The workmanship is described as ex uisite. It is unhesitatingly attributed to Mino da Fiesole. Several of the figures are damaged, having been broken by chisel, When the superimposed wall was raised the tabernacies were plastere over, but the masterpieces are sufficiently well preserved not to diminish their artistic value.

that the abolition of Secretary Smith's office did not in any way result from the investigation by the Commissioners of Accounts. The matter had been under dvisement with the Corporation Counse for some time and the Corporation Coun sel had embodied his opinion of the legality of the step in papers which he drawn up for abolishing the office. In fact, the Commissioner said, investigation by the Commissioners of Accou had been brought about through an attempt by Secretary Smith to "get even" for the Commissioner's refusal to allow $2,000 of Secretary Smith's $4,000 selars to go on his budget. The Commis explained that Secretary Smith's salary was split up between the Park Board and the department of Manhattan and Richmond. He had never been able to discover any service which Mr. Smith rendered to the Manhattan and Richme department and he opposed having half the salary charged to that departm This came up before the Board of Estimate a few months ago. Commis Smith said that he had supposed that the salary allotment had been stricken out, but found to his surprise that it had not and was to come up for approval by the Board of Aldermen. He asked the Mayor for permission to oppose it before Aldermen and received permission, the Mayor saying that he too had suppor that the salary division had been stric out by the Board of Estimate. "Col. Alexander S. Bacon appeared to represent Secretary Smith's claims before the Aldermen," said the Commissioner. "When he was beaten and the refused to have the salary payment divided Col. Bacon went to Comptrolls Metz and filed with him an affidavit protesting against the payment of No salary on the ground that Nagle work. I told Metz that Nagle every day and the Comptroller the payment of Nagle's salary. But accusation brought on the inves by the Commis

y the Commissioners of Accounts." Commissioner Smith said also that verse reports on Secretary Smith have been made by the Commiss counts and the Comptroller's office on several occasions and that he had found a way to save the taxpayers $4,000 a 3 without hurting the work of the Park

Department.
Secretary Smith said last night that the news that his office had been out from rather as a shock. He received notice at five minutes to 4 o'clock. Nagle brought him the noti and never having seen Nagle before he asked Nagle where he was from. replied "downstairs," meaning the Commissioners' office in the Arsenal. After receiving his notice Mr. Sn went to the board room and told Commissioners Smith, Kennedy and Berry that he wished to protest. "Consider your protest filed," was Commissioner smith's reply. nith said that as a veteran he was protected by the civil service law fr the abolition of his office and that he would take steps to contest his dismis Clinton H. Smith had been assistant secretary of the Park Department for thirty-one years, serving under nearly fifty Commissioners. He served as Major and acting Colonel with the Seventy-first Regiment in the Spanish war and after the return of the regiment to New York was dismissed from the service of the National Guard by Gov. Roosevelt, who acted upon the report of the State examining board which had investigated Major Smith's conduct in the Santiago campaign. Major Smith carried his case up to the Appellate Division of preme Court at Albany and that body

Owing to lack of time Mr. Mitchel said he had been unable to investigate more than two on the payrolls of the department procuring the payment by the city of a monthly salary to employees who, it was alleged, either rendered less services than that entered on the payrolls or no ervice at all." These two employees were Private Secretary Nagle, $1,800 a year, and Mrs. M. F. B. O'Connell, a playground attendant at $70 a month. Mr. Mitchel says about Nagle: The Commissioner testified that Nagle's appointment in Japuary, 1903, had been suggested by your Honor and intimated that your Honor was solely responsible for the appointment (page 228). This your Honor has denied. We therefore are inclined to discredit his entire testimony as unraliable and not be supposed. fore are inclined to discredit his entire testimony as unreliable and not inspired by a desire truthfully to state the facts.

As to Mr. Nagle's duties and his performance of them the Commissioner refused to testify further than to say that Nagle performed confidential duties which he ithe witness, would not describe the second to the s
